

by "youngshoof"

11.04.2018

"Peer pressure is a big Problem for teens"

In my opinion, I think that it actually depends on which situation it is. Like if they wear specific clothing it's not that much of a problem unless there is some financial inconvenience going on in your family. On the other hand peer pressure can be an issue if you have friends who steal, rob, destroy, vandalize or other illegal activities, this can lead to the peer pressure victim to become a criminal and also leads to huge consequences if you get arrested whilst doing an illegal activity for example. I experience peer pressure too sometimes but mostly because of the games they play such as Fortnite or FIFA. Also because of the type of music they listen and because of their clothing brands. I don't really think it's common to experience peer pressure and then do illegal stuff, instead I think (or better yet) hope that they just decline any of their offers of doing such stuff because honestly they are fake friends who don't even deserve someone to peer pressure on them cuz that's the <sup>most</sup> stupid thing to do. To sum up, I believe peer pressure can be good, as long as you have good friends who respect you no matter what.